Col. Irons.

Col. Irons, of the Truckee Republican, whose death was announced last week, has been a long time identified with journalism on this Coast, and was a writer of marked strength and opinions of his own. He was once in the theatrical business, and at the time of his death was connected with several secret orders. He leaves a wife and family.

Enjoying a Genuine Boom.

During the course of a sermon in a Dakota town last Sunday a harsh creaking was heard to proceed from under the church. After some time a movement was felt in the building, and several members of the congregation got up and started out, fearing that an earthquake was coming.

"Friends," said the minister, as he stopped his sermon and leaned on the pulpit, "pray be seated; there is no danger."

"But the church is moving, and there is something wrong," replied a lady who was very much agitated.

"Oh that's all right, sister Brown, you see there is some workmen under the building with jack screws, and now they hitched onto the back with ten yoke of oxen and are snaking the edifice over into a back street. In the morning, God willing, work will commence on this lot on the finest opera house west of Chicago. I tell you the boom in this town is only just nicely started."

The Hawthorne Game.

Our boys returned from Hawthorne several hundred dollars poorer, but with an excellent opinion of the treatment they received at the hands of the citizens of Hawthorne. They were very hospitably entertained and a dance was given for their benefit. During the game they discovered that playing in heavy sand was not their forte. The grounders were deadened by the sand and when they attempted to deal in high flies they were invariably caught out. With all these discouragements they held their opponents pretty level, and still think they can beat them. They will never rest until they wipe out their defeat.

Bully for the Earthquake.

The earthquake that struck Shaw's Springs woke the old man up and he has succeeded in fixing his bath now so that they are better than ever before. All who go there say that they are mighty glad the earthquake came just as it did. His business has also increased.

THE PICTURE SALE.

Low Prices Generally Realized.

There was quite a good attendance at the auction sale last evening, Carson's best citizens being on hand to purchase. The pictures were considerably better than have been sold here on prior occasions, and the buyers were quick to appreciate the beauties of the various canvases. The prices realized, however, were what might be called dirt cheap.

Some of the gems of the collection went at ridiculously low prices. It looked as if purchasers had picked out just what they wanted and agreed not to bid against each other, as the prices realized on some would not pay for the frames. Now and then several people would hanker after the same thing, and then the bidding would be quite spirited. The auctioneer has had orders to sell without reserve, and the pictures will go whenever there is a second bid. The bidders were kept in good humor all the evening, and had quite a jolly time.

A good many of our art lovers were at the Lake and in the mountains, or there would have doubtless been much better prices realized.

The sale will continue this evening and also tomorrow night.

Our Daily Bread

Heavy and sour bread or biscuit has a vast influence through the digestive organs upon the measure of health we enjoy. How important to our present happiness and future usefulness the blessing of good health and strong constitution are, we can only realize when we have lost them, and when it is too late to repair the damage. Notwithstanding these facts, thousands of persons daily jeopardize not on their health, but their lives and the healths and lives of others, by using articles in the preparation of their food and purity and healthfulness of which they know nothing. Perhaps a few cents may have been saved, or it may have been more convenient to obtain the articles used, and the housekeeper takes the responsibility and possibly will never know the mischief that has been wrought. Paterfamilias may have spells of headache, the children may have lost their appetites, or look pale; if so, the true cause is rarely suspected. The weather, the lack of out-door air, or some other cause, is given, and the unwholesome, poisonous system of adulterated food goes on. Next to the flour, which should be made of good, sound wheat and not ground too fine, the yeast or baking powder, which furnishes the rising properties, is of the greatest importance, and of the two we prefer baking powder, and always use the Royal, as we thereby retain the original properties of the wheat, no fermentation taking place. The action of the Royal Baking Powder upon the dough is simply to swell it and form little cells through every part. These cells are filled with carbonic acid gas, which passes off during the process of baking.

The Royal is made from pure grape acid, and it is the action of acid upon highly carbonized bicarbonate of soda that generates the gas alluded to. and these ingredients are so pure and so perfectly fitted, tested and adapted to each other, that the action is mild and permanent, and is continued during the whole time of baking, and no residue of poisonous ingredients remains to undermine the health, no heavy biscuits, no sour bread, but if directions are followed, every article will be found sweet and wholesome.

After "Dust."

Buffalo Bill, writing to an old friend in Nebraska says: "I still wear the same sized hat, and when I make my pole I am coming back to visit all the boys. If you meet any of the boys tell them I ain't got the big head worth a cent. I am over here for 'dust.'" And Bill seems to be getting it.

The Veil of Futurity.

Mrs. Bowers, the Washoe Seeress, can be found the next few days at Room 38, Arlington House, where she can be consulted on the future.

A PLEASANT GIRL.

She Defends Herself Against a Washoe Blanche.

A few weeks ago a man representing himself as a Washoe rancher, went to Clara Hall and hired a young girl to do housework. He said he had a wife and two children and ran a big ranch near Reno. The girl went with him on the night train, and was taken to a carriage several miles from Reno. On her arrival her suspicions were aroused by seeing no wife and children; only the head man and some hired men.

On being shown her room she inquired for the rancher's wife, and he replied with a grin:

"I guess you'll do for the present." She realized her situation, and saying nothing closed the door and barricaded it with her bedstead. In the night the man made an attempt to get in, and cursed her horribly on finding the door closed. She finally told him that she was armed and would shoot him dead if the door was broken in. He then went away, and in the morning she made her escape in time to take the train to the Comstock. Her friends propose to take the matter in hand and interview the scoundrel. It would seem that it was time the Renosites got out their tar bucket.

The Underground Postal Line.

A man in Reno recently purchased a match-box from the State Prison and a portion of the top coming off accidentally he found the following letter inside:

July 31, 1882.

My dear boy and friend, you are all I have to hoap in, and I would like to see you very well, for we are as brothers and friends to, so help me God. Remember me now my dear boy; I want you to do me a turn. Go and get the assids and get the best you can and try it first, and if it is good kind send it to me.

I think it will be safe in a looking glass. Bore a hole in the end of it, and plug it up again. I think it is the best for us, and let it be sent by Reno. Do not sign your name to it. I am in oald No.—cell with a good man, but no man shall know you sent it to me. If we get out I will meet you somewhere, or you can name the town, or I will write to Rocklin. Tell me in your next letter. I want to see you, and will if I can. My name will be T. F. Hubbard when we meet. Be sure and send it as soon as you can get it, for they will not look so close before my case comes before the Board. I am going to get out some way or loose my life at it. So do this for a friend. No name. Good by.

Look out for the S. Ciper he is no good.

Discovery of Two Skeletons.

In breaking through in the old drift from the Big Tunnel Saturday, the skeleton of an animal was found, which at first sight shattered the nerves of the miners, as they considered it the bones of a human skeleton. One of the men dashed out of the tunnel as if he had been shot from a double barreled shotgun and nothing could induce him to enter again for some time till it was demonstrated to his satisfaction that it was the bones of a goat. Two skeletons were found having the hide attached to some of the bones showing that the bones belonged to a black and red goat, that had wandered into the tunnel and died. The men feel much relieved, especially one of them, as they do not fear the ghost of a goat and besides they do not believe the animal has any.—Reveille.

A Horrible Tragedy.

MACON, Ga., Aug. 6.—Information has just been received of a most horrible tragedy which occurred last night about twelve miles from here in this county. The report says that Captain Woolfolk, a well-known farmer, his wife, four children and Mrs. West, an aunt of Mrs. Woolfolk were found murdered in the house with their throats cut. Tom G. Woolfolk, son of Captain Woolfolk by his first wife is suspected of the crime and was arrested. A Deputy Sheriff and the Coroner have gone out to the scene of the murder. Owing to the distance from the city full particulars are not easily obtainable.
